Orion Engineers and Constructors Hires New Manager for Louisiana Operations

Gonzales— January 4, 2016 — Orion Engineers and Constructors hires a new Operations Manager for its Gonzales, Louisiana office. David Faucheaux, a native Louisianan, has over 10 years of Project Management and Engineering Management experience. David is replacing Danny Vaughn who has assumed the duty of Vice President Business Development and Construction Services. In addition to his engineering experience, David has been a contributor to 15+ major plant shut down/turn arounds and has worked in chemical producing facilities throughout Louisiana and Texas in various capacities from plant engineer to equipment maintenance and facilities support specialist. “We are lucky to have David join our team and are excited about the continuing opportunity for success at the Gonzales office. We see David as a long-term addition to our senior management team and contributing service presence in the local Ascension Parish community” said Danny Vaughn.

Mr. Fauchaux graduated from Louisiana State University (LSU) with a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering and owns credentials as a Professional Engineer in several states. As newlyweds, David and bride Amy enjoy their free time working in their home-based microbrewery and training for various marathon races. “We look forward to our future in Gonzales, Ascension Parish, and across Louisiana and want to extend an invitation to our friends and clients to call on us for yearly, critical or specialty engineering and construction services – you will be in the best of hands with David and his team” said Mr. Danny Vaughn.

Founded in 2001, Orion Engineers and Constructors is a multi-discipline engineering and construction services firm delivering project services from conceptual design to commissioning and start-up. For more information on additional services please our website at:
